

BOARD OF TRADE.

A Move in the Right Direction.

The meeting of the Board of Trade last Monday evening was very largely attended and was by far the most enthusiastic and interesting meeting that this honorable body ever held in Lebanon. The committee on manufacturing reported articles of incorporation which had been previously prepared by them; the report was unanimously adopted and the following gentlemen appointed as incorporators: C. B. Montague, C. H. Balston, W. B. Donaca, F. M. Miller, J. C. Bilyeu, Joseph Elkins. It was thought best to appoint some additional help to solicit funds on subscription for the ditch, and the following gentlemen were elected to help: J. J. Swan, M. A. Miller, J. A. Beard, John Burkhart, W. J. Guy, John Walton and B. Burtenshaw. M. A. Miller laid a proposition before the Board to advertise the town, which was adopted, and the committee on advertising given power to take any steps they saw fit in accepting the proposition, and also to assist in the preparation of suitable matter for advertising and advancing the best interests of the resources of the county. After a few timely remarks by different members, the Board adjourned until the next regular appointment.

Slaughtering Deer.

There is a deer blockade in the mountains. The East Oregonian says that reports are to the effect that herds of deer are blockaded in the breaks of Meacham creek by the deep snow which fills the gulches and canyons to the depth of five or six feet. The drifts make it difficult for the deer to travel and the mountaineers are having rare sport slaying the beleaguered animals, and tender, juicy steaks and roasts of venison garnish the board of many a mountain home. Many an ambitious nimrod who would utterly fail in stalking the shy and wary deer in an open forest with no favors, can cover himself with gore and glory by chasing and shooting the deer so plentiful along the canyons of the babbling Meacham now. A good, old-fashioned chinook, however, will soon set the captives free, and spoil the hunter's sport.

The enthusiasm expressed by the members of the Board of Trade on Monday evening, and by the citizens in general, in regard to propositions for the welfare and advancement of the business and for making known the superior advantages Lebanon has to offer to the home seeker, is not to be despised. The Brownsville times, in a few, brief remarks, hostile to Lebanon's prosperous condition, tries to leave the impression that this is a dull, dead town; that the citizens lack public enterprise, and that our Board of Trade is a very poor and unactive body. If the editor of the above-mentioned paper could see some of the stirring and active steps taken by this body, and get enough of its pluck and vim to enthrone Brownsville's citizens with an equal amount of courage in enacting public enterprises, then it will have accomplished that of which she will have cause to boast. Let us hear no more such weak-minded remarks, Brother Mc.

Good Example.

McMinnville has wisely followed splendid example set by Salem in raising a fund to be expended monthly in spreading the good news of this glorious country in the east. The McMinnville folks have already a fund of $118 per month which will be spent in advertising the city. This money will be expended by the newly organized board of trade and of course will come back many fold in a short time, as the city is sure to receive many new inhabitants as a result of the advertising. This reminds the writer that it will soon be time for the people of Salem to raise a fund for the advertising of Salem during the coming year. They already feel the beneficial results of last year's labor and should respond liberally when solicited. Salem's monthly subscription this year for this purpose should be large, as it no doubt will be.—Statesman.

The railway construction of the United States in 1889 amounted to 5000 miles, enough to reach from the Mississippi river to the Pacific coast and back again, yet the average length of new lines was less than twenty miles. The best indication of the healthfulness of this growth is seen in this fact. The work done was chiefly in providing feeders for the main lines and pushing extensions forward in response to the demands of trade. The south, owing to the attempts now being made to develop her mineral and other natural resources, has had a large share of the new roads. 3000 of the five thousand miles reported as the compliment of the year were laid in the country south of Cincinnati and east of the Mississippi, leaving to the Pacific coast and the mighty northwest the balance.

LEBANON'S PROSPECTS.

There is no town in Oregon with brighter prospects than Lebanon, it being situated near the center of Linn county, the finest agricultural county in the state, located on south fork of the Santiam at the terminus of the Lebanon branch of the S. P. R. R. with three trains a day, giving us good mail facilities, and better than many towns with much larger populations than we have. Laying to the west of our town is some of the finest grain and fruit lands in the county; to the north is land suitable for grain, hops, fruit and vegetables; to the south and east is a large stretch of country suitable for grain and stock raising. These lands are occupied by a thrifty, enterprising class of farmers and stock raisers, some of them owning large tracts of land which they are willing to subsidize into smaller tracts to suit purchasers, having learned from experience that small farms with better cultivation will give more favorable results. Lebanon has a population of from seven to eight hundred, being the second largest town in the county. The business of Lebanon is well represented by an enterprising class of business men. We have good public schools, an academy and a number of churches.

The citizens of our town have made arrangements with O'Neil Brothers, of California, by which they agree to erect and operate paper mills with a capacity of five ton of paper per day, with a pay-roll of four thousand dollars per month.

Our citizens are taking steps to organize a company for the construction of a water ditch, by tangip the Santiam river at or near Cheadle's Falls and bringing water into the city limits, giving us a good water supply and power sufficient for a number of mills and factories. With all these improvements we may reasonably expect to double our population within the next eighteen months.

The Real Estate business is represented by the firm of Peterson & Wallace, who are ready and willing at all times to show you through the city and country free of charge. They have on their list a great many farms, which will be sold at prices and terms to suit purchasers. Call on them and see some of their property.
